OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

AS A GOLF HACKER of some years standing and swinging, we were naturally interested in the recent press release from the "Institute for Safer Living", headquartered in Wakefield, Mass., relative to the hazards on the golf course.

The release was not referring to sand traps and the like, but rather to dangers that lurk on the fairways caused by carelessness on the part of the golfer.

It pointed out that because of the increasing numbers taking up America's most popular outdoor game, more accidents can be expected on the golf course this year.

The steady stream of golfing enthusiasts may make the country club or public course more hazardous than ever before.

We have never considered golf a dangerous sport, especially the way we play it.

But we must admit that, just as in driving a car, inattention and lack of experience can result in tragedy.

Although we have yet to see a person severely injured on the golf course, we have certainly heard of such cases.

So we are all for the safety tips that were listed. It could happen to us.

The safety campaign is being carried by the Institute to more than 4,000 golf courses across the country.

THE HEADLINE on the poster (which we also received) that is being distributed to the golf courses blasts:

"Look before you drive-safety is par for this course".

It caricaturizes an unconcerned golfer tearing around the course in a golf cart unmindful of the other golfers forced to scrammble out of his way. We don't use a cart so we're safe on that score.

But the safety hints that were listed could apply to anyone who swings a club, including those in our class who have good intentions as to where the ball should go. But the ball often has a different idea.

For example: Never hit a golf ball if there is anyone within possible range of the distance you can hit.

Always stand behind and away from the player making the shot.

If hitting in a wooded or stony rough, be sure every one stands well away while you hit.

The institute should have added that the hitter should either then put on a crash helmet or take a safe, sacrifice shot. We know about that. (We had to duck last week when our ball hit a tree and ended up 30 yards back from where we started.)

If a hole is blind, don't hit until you know for sure that the foursome ahead is out of range.

There were a number of other pertinent hints concluding with this last bomb:

"Remember your age. You are getting older every day and the course gets longer everytime you play."

They sure know how

At meeting next Monday

Council acts on budget, bond issue

Campbell's City Council next Monday night must look into the crystal ball twice; once to get the next 12-months picture and the other for a six-year projection.

The councilmen expect the 12-month view in the crystal ball will at least be a little bleak.

They have indicated they want to "hold the line" at the present tax rate but this task has become complicated with projected costs rising faster than anticipated income.

But they seem to think the six-year picture will be brighter.

Next Monday the City Council is scheduled not only to adopt an "economy" budget for the next fiscal year, now slashed to a "minimum" but still showing a deficit, but also to act on the six-year capital improvement program as recommended by the Citizens Advisory Committee.

The recommendation of the citizens group calls for a $3 million plus bond issue to fund the eight projects submitted and suggests October for the bond vote.

BUDGET STUDY

The councilmen, beginning last Wednesday when the citizens report was submitted and discussed, have held a series of back-breaking, head-aching budget sessions in which they went over the tentative operational budget, as submitted by City Manager Bob Stephens, step by step.

Stephens had maintained that he had slashed the budget to a minimum before submitting it to the Council and this has more or less been borne out in the council sessions on the document, for the councilmen have only made slight changes to date.

The council met almost all-day Saturday in going over the items step by step and they went back into session on Monday night. The Saturday and Monday meetings dealt only with the operational budget.

MEETS TONIGHT

Tonight (Wednesday) the council again takes up the capital improvement program and again members of the Citizens Advisory Committee are expected to be in attendance as the projects to be included in the proposed bond issue are discussed.

City officials hope that at tonight's meeting an agreement will be reached as to the projects that will be placed on the bond issue and the total amount of the issue. The final decision will then be made Monday.

CITIZENS

Last Wednesday's meeting was devoted entirely to the discussion of the citizens' report which was submitted by Don Hebard, general chairman.

The committee recommended a $3,113,

City Council to honor Campbell citizens

Although budgetary problems (see separate story) will take the spotlight at the City Council meeting next Monday (June 26), the councilmen plan to take time out to recognize the importance of citizen involvement in city affairs.

Individual certificates will be awarded to members of the Citizens Advisory Committee for their outstanding work in developing a practical capital improvement program and the committee as a whole will also be honored by a resolution.

In a similar manner, the council is scheduled to recognize the achievements of Jim Duffield, Chamber of Commerce manager for the past two years, who has resigned basically for health reasons to accept a similar position in Desert Hot Springs.

Second reading of the ordinance limiting the number of pool tables allowed in a tavern is also on the agenda.

A report will also be submitted by Councilman Charles Rose on the problems that have developed by the Winchester Drive-in Theater. Rose was named at the last council meeting to investigate and report.

A report also is scheduled from Police Chief John Morgan as to what effect, if any, the reduction of state liquor enforcement officers will have locally.

City Manager Bob Stephens is also expected to explain the mechanics involved to get a library proposal on the proposed bond issue ballot in October. The matter is complicated because of the city-county involvement in the library operation.

A report based on the meeting of the Downtown Redevelopment Committee this morning as to recommendations for traffic flow when storm drains are installed on Campbell Ave. may also be made at the meeting.

On committee's recommendation

School board approves "satisfaction survey"

As a result of the report made last week of the professional rights and responsibilities committee of the Campbell Elementary Teachers Association to the school board, a better understanding has developed of the problems involving parents, teachers, administration and board, Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong, board president, indicated this week.

The trustees approved the committee's recommendation that a comprehensive "staff satisfaction survey" of the entire district be made next school year to identify "feelings" in the school system.

The results of the survey, developed by the NEA and CTA, national and state educational associations, could provide a better understanding for all elements in the district, school officials feel.

The survey also could prevent misunderstandings over "policy decisions" from arising in the district as was the case this year in some instances.

In the recommendation to the board, the CETA committee did not place the blame on any particular segment in the district for any misunderstandings that developed but indicated that better communication was needed among all groups.

Indications were this week that the recommendation by the committee and the subsequent action of the board calling for the survey next year, has met with approval of all parties concerned with the harmonious operation of the system.

At Campbell First Methodist

Ministers receive reappointments

The Rev. William H. (Ben) Gould, minister of the Campbell First Methodist Church since January, 1961, has been reappointed to the Campbell pastorate by Bishop Donald H. Tippett, president of the Council of Bishops.

The Rev. Alan R. Goozee, associate minister here since August, 1962, was also reappointed.

The appointments came at the close of the six-day California-Nevada Annual Conference of the Methodist Church held in Stockton at the University of the Pacific.

REV. W.H. GOULD

Appointments of ministers to 395 churches and other special assignments were made by Bishop Tippett.

In the final business session, which ended at midnight, Saturday, ministers and laymen voting together approved a petition to the General Conference of Methodism next April at Dallas, Texas, calling for removal from the discipline of the of the church the historic, specific requirement upon Methodist ministers to abstain from the use of alcohol and tobacco.

The petition was vigorously opposed by both ministers and laymen but was passed by a 163 to 100 vote.

The Conference also adopted a budget of $2,145,415 (the same as last year) for the program shared by all the churches.

It was reported that for all church purposes, local, Conference and for Methodist world service, the 127,768 members gave a total of $11,704,818--an average of $91.60 each.

The annual Conference voted approval of a proposed merger of the Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Bishop Tippett in June, 1968, will preside at his final annual conference as an active bishop because he faces mandatory retirement as a resident bishop.

At C. of C. luncheon Thursday

Nevers, grid hero, 'explains' soccer

Campbell Chamber of Commerce this Thursday at Villa Felice will hold its last monthly luncheon meeting until fall. Ernie Nevers, all-time football great of Stanford and professional ranks, will be the featured speaker at the luncheon.

Nevers, now associated with the "California Clippers," professional soccer team competing in the National Professional Soccer League, will have as his subject "Why am I in soccer now?" and will also show a 15-minute film relating to soccer.

ERNIE NEVERS --soccer now

Another incentive for members to attend the luncheon this Thursday is that it will be the last such meeting for Jim Duffield, general manager of the C. of C. for the past two years.

Duffield has resigned the Campbell position to accept a similar post at Desert Hot Springs in the high desert area.

In his letter of resignation, which was accepted with regrets by the directors of the C. of C., Duffield explained it was expected that the desert climate would be more beneficial to both him and Mrs. Duffield than that of the Santa Clara Valley. The Duffields expect to leave for their new home shortly after July 1.

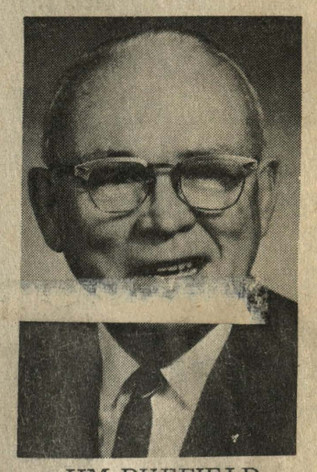
Because of the record compiled by "Big Tiger" Duffield during his two years in Campbell, it is expected that a large turnout of members will be on hand this Thursday to reluctantly but sincerely extend him the best wishes of the community.

Civic leaders, as well as C. of C. officers and members, have expressed disappointment that Duffield is leaving but have also recognized that his and his wife's health comes first.

Duffield is assisting a committee composed of Dick Hardy, past president; Harry Lind, vice-president; George Vierhus, president and Bob Stephens, city manager, in attempting to locate a replacement for him.

Nevers, one of the greatest names in American football, is one of the four directors of the California (Oakland) Clippers Professional Soccer Club. Toby Hilliard and Joe O'Neil, Jr., are co-owners of the club.

Nevers has been prominent for many years with efforts to encourage widespread participation in athletics among the elementary and high schools.



JIM DUFFIELD --last meeting

The Clippers play a 32 game schedule with 16 of them at home, played in the Oakland Coliseum.

While Nevers admits that soccer is relatively a new sport to him, his role in sports is an impressive one. At Stanford he competed in baseball, basketball and track, in addition to football.

He played at Stanford from 1922-26 and is a charter member of the College Football Hall of Fame and the Professional Football Hall of Fame.

He was player and coach of the Chicago Cardinals and Duluth Eskimos, in the pro field, and coached at Stanford and the University of Iowa. He also played baseball with the St. Louis Browns in the American League and also served in various capacities in the All-American Football Conference.

Nevers claims that soccer and American football aren't too far apart. Soccer is played with 11 men to the side. And the game is played with an inflated ball... But the balls, of course, differ in shape.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT SOCCER?--Pictured are members of the "Clippers," bay area entry in the National Professional Soccer League. The world's most popular sport (outside the United States), soccer is now attempting to get a toe-hold with the American sports public.

ERNIE NEVERS, all-time grid great from Stanford, and now associated with the "Clippers" will be the featured speaker this Thursday, June 22, at the Chamber of Commerce monthly luncheon at Villa Felice. His topic will be "Why Am I in Soccer?".

Editorial

Let's go from here

The recommendation of the Citizens Advisory Committee suggesting a $3,110,000 bond issue for eight specific capital improvement projects is now in the hands of the City Council.

Some slight modifications to the program have been made by the councilmen and staff personnel since the recommendation of the Citizens Advisory Committee was submitted.

The modifications were necessary to upgrade cost estimates and to include items that of necessity are allied with the overall project.

But acting under the "mandate" of the citizens, the total program meets the $3.2 million ceiling that was recommended by the citizens and the overall concept of the "package" remains the same.

We are hopeful that the City Council will give its wholehearted and enthusiastic endorsement to the entire package as submitted and then call for a bond election in October as recommended by the committee.

It is time for our city to get moving and there is no better time than now while the enthusiasm of the dedicated group of citizens, who labored so diligently on their assignment, is at a high level.

We concede that there may be some critics who feel that there should be more "documentation" of the conclusions of the citizens group before they are accepted.

There are others of us who may not be in total agreement with the report of the citizens committee, for we have different ideas as to what capital improvements for the city should be given priority.

Some of us would probably like to see an entirely different approach than that recommended for one or more phases of the program.

We submit, however, that it is not possible for all people to view the picture in the same way.

We believe, (and we have experimented by "test cases") that, if six different civic leaders or any six citizens are asked what they considered this city's most pressing need in the way of capital improvements, there would be six different answers.

Therefore, we maintain the recommendation made by the Citizens Advisory Committee, composed of citizens from every section of the community whose sole objective was to improve THEIR city, provides the most logical basis as to what their city needs NOW.

We firmly believe that in adopting the recommendation of the Citizens Advisory Committee in concept and modified slightly, the City Council would be following a mandate of the citizens themselves.

And we do not believe it is necessary to be too concerned about such details of the overall program at this time as to whether the city can afford the improvements once they come into being.

Vision and optimism are necessary ingredients, if a city is to progress.

Many of the recommended projects will not be off the drawing board until five years hence. We maintain that any attempt to compare the city's present fiscal situation with that of five years in the future is an idle gesture. It could be worse or much better.

There are many factors that could change this city's sales tax picture overnight. For example, more retail outlets, including automobile agencies of which there are none at present, could improve the sales tax income far beyond present projections.

Development of sub-standard areas would improve the property tax base as would more industries making Campbell their base.

In this connection we maintain that the capital improvement program as suggested by the Citizens Advisory Committee will assist in improving the economic picture of the community and thus enable the city to offer better services to its citizens.

In suggesting the $3.2 million ceiling and the 40-cent tax levy for the capital improvement program, Dale Scott, chairman of the finance sub-committe, submitted that two basic tests should be used in determining what projects should be presented:

1. Does the project create a potentially favorable climate for public and private investment in the City of Campbell?

2. Does the project contribute to a positive and visible image for the City of Campbell?

We are convinced that the program recommended by the Citizens Advisory Committee meets these conditions.

We are also well aware that estimated costs for the various projects submitted will fluctuate, unfortunately, probably upward.

Therefore, what is considered a good guess today as far as costs are concerned will be away off base five years hence or even next year.

That was made quite obvious in the supplementary report of the city staff made by City Manager Bob Stephens which indicated that because of a number of factors involved costs for the eight projects recommended were up $400,000 from the original estimates.

Thus the projects recommended based on the new figures would exceed the $3.2 million ceiling suggested and thus could not be financed by a 40-cent levy.

But the committee members have indicated definitely that $3.2 million should be the ceiling and that the tax rate should be 40-cents.

They also indicated in their assembly, and by their spokesman, that had these new cost figures been presented before the report was finalized, the cut-off in the projects would have been at six instead of the eight, in order to keep within the $3.2 million figure.

Based on all these factors and recognizing that all estimates of costs can only be conjecture and nothing else, we suggest that the $3.2 million program, as recommended by the citizens committee and amended by the city staff, be placed on the ballot for a bond election in October.

If there is not enough bond money available to complete the particular projects to the ultimate, then go as far as the money allows.

If the city is not in a position to operate or maintain a project, the bonds need not be sold until the position of the city is more favorable.

What we are saying is that this city must start somewhere. There is no way to get exact costs today of something that is five years away.

Therefore, we feel that the recommendation of the Citizens Advisory Committee provides the best solution and the best guidelines as to what way the people want their city to go.

And it is the people that must be satisfied. They are the ones who must pick up the tab.

So, let's go from here!

to hurt a guy.

But that's not what is wrong with our game.

Players from 10 to 20 years older than we are consistently turn in better scores than we do.

BASCOM AVE. traffic is consistently getting heavier and those of us who live on the "east side" have our work cut out for us at times making a left turn onto that drag from the side streets.

Admittedly instead of patiently (?) waiting to get a break in the flowing traffic, we could cut over to Campbell Ave. where the traffic signal light is.

But that's not much of a choice.

Campbell-Bascom intersection is where you jog-and-jig to go straight ahead and take your life and fenders in your hands, even if you have the right-of-way.

So far we have preferred waiting for the break at our street.

Coincidentally and incidentally, while awaiting there the other day, Councilman Ralph Doetsch blew his horn at us as he scooted by going north on Bascom.

We were still waiting when another horn-blower going south on Bascom turned out to be Councilman Charlie Rose.

All that was needed to make the day complete would have been to have our "eastside" councilmen, Bill Smeed, from Manchester Ave., and Homer Hyde, from Midway at E. Campbell, to have been waiting with us at the time.

COUNCILMAN HYDE, of course, is a relative newcomer to the "eastside", as the Hydes recently purchased the Connie Russo home at Midway and E. Campbell.

He has to travel that atrocious Campbell-Bascom intersection daily.

We imagine he shivers with frustration each time he does.

But to give Homer credit, he was well aware of the monstrosity before he moved across the tracks and was hopeful that some day it could be rectified.

Incidentally, the "eastside" is served by the San Jose Water Works.

Can't you imagine the mumbling that goes on each month as Homer, general manager of the Campbell Water Co., which has been owned by the Hyde family for years, shells out the dough to pay his water bill to the San Jose Water Works?

It probably is the first time in years that Homer has had to pay for water for his home.

Divided Planning Commission approves new service station at Central - Hamilton

Union Oil Co. won a tight service station battle before the Planning Commission Monday night when the commission by a 3-2 vote approved a new gas station for Hamilton and Central.

But it was a touch-and-go affair and the fact that the oil company was merely replacing a station that previously had existed at the corner proved to be the deciding factor.

The commission balloted twice on the request for a use permit for the station.

The first motion to deny the permit was made by Frank Klein and seconded by Ed Pack. In the voting Merrill Grim cited conflict of interest and abstained. Chairman Jack Healey was joined by Thayer Lyons and and Dean Chamberlin in opposing the denial motion.

The motion to approve was made by Lyons and he was joined by Healey and Chamberlin on the vote with Klein and Pack standing pat.

Both Healey and Lyons, who have long voiced opposition to the influx of more stations into town, said they were reluctantly voting for approval simply because a station had been at the location and had been removed by Union Oil.

In an allied action, the commission unanimously approved the plans for the new station, after considerable discussion over whether a reverse plan for the station would be less of a nuisance to the adjacent nursing home than other plans.

In another action, the commission approved the plans submitted by Ira Kirkorian that would enclose the "veranda" on the west side of Fedor's in order to expand the bar and dancing area.

Approved also were plans submitted by Medallion Paint Service for office and warehouse at 190 Dillon after first stipulating a time limit when the building used for an office must be vacated.

Plans for three four-unit apartment houses submitted by Ray Kanawyer on Adler, Echo and Nello were also approved. The commission specified that utilities must be placed underground. The way was left open for Kanawyer to appeal this condition at a later date.

The commission also granted a use permit for F. M. Santos and R. W. Montanari to construct and operate a day care nursery school at 1063 Fewtrell Drive.

Planning Director Dick Hogan in recommending approval said that he was pleased with such a use as a "buffer" between the residential area and the commercial development planned. Recently approved on lots adjacent to the proposed nursery school were a Der Wiernerschnitzel drive-through restaurant and a Taco Bell.

After completing the agenda items and after a 10-minute recess, the commission discussed the proposed capital improvement program as recommended by the Citizens Advisory Committee and modified by staff personnel.

The discussion on the program extended to after 1 a.m. with the commission finally giving its endorsement to the modified program which is scheduled to go before the City Council next Monday. It will also be discussed tonight at a public hearing for that purpose.

City wins award for accounting

The City of Campbell has won special recognition in competition for the 1967 Municipal Accounting Award presented by the California Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Campbell will share honorable mention honors with the Orange County cities of Laguna Beach and Tustin, according to Roy H. Osterhout, chairman of the selection committee.

The awards are presented annually by the Society to those cities with populations of 35,000 or less which demonstrate the greatest improvement in accounting procedures during the previous fiscal year.

Campbell will receive its award in October at the annual meeting of the League of California Cities in San Francisco. Two certificates will actually be presented--one to Mayor Ed Rogers and one to City Manager Robert C. Stephens as the official responsible for the improvement.

City Manager Stephens, during the discussion, explained that the staff had been forced to revise its cost figures from those that had been submitted to the citizens group for study. He presented a modification of the citizens' recommendation that increased the costs by more than $300,000.

Members of the citizens group present indicated that while they realized that costs would vary, they felt that the $3.2 million ceiling as submitted by the finance sub-committee headed by Dale Scott was the limit.

Scott, as well as other sub-committee chairmen, including Henry Cary, parks; and Ralph Weymouth, streets, participated in the discussion as did members of the Planning Commission who were present.

It was emphasized by Hebard and other committee members that had the general committee known the new cost-figures at the time the priorities were selected, the committee would have limited the projects to $3.2 million and would have submitted six projects instead of eight.

WV College trustees adopt tentative $5.7 million budget

A five-hour marathon 'work session' by the West Valley College Board of Trustees resulted in adoption, in the early hours of Friday morning, of a tentative General Fund budget of $5,797,945 and a tentative Special Reserve Budget of $4,692,206.

The action followed the appointment to the Board of Mrs. Mildred H. Wharton of Saratoga, to fill out the unexpired term of Dr. Edwin C. Browne who has resigned.

The Board also set a special meeting for July 13 to further examine the budget, before it is returned to the Office of the County Superintendent of Schools as the publication budget on July 20.

The session was composed mainly of line-by-line examination of budget items. Although giving tentative adoption to the budget the Board members reserved the right to make specific cuts at the July 13 or subsequent meetings before final adoption during the first week of August.

The Board also authorized support for Assembly Bill 272 (Unruh), which Dr. Wallace W. Hall, superintendent, said "appears to be the apportionment bill for this session" and which in its present form, provides additional funds for junior colleges, as well as for elementary and high schools, and for Senate Bill 691 (Stiern) the "Junior College Construction Act of 1967." This latter bill would provide the means by which local districts may raise funds necessary to match the State entitlements for approved junior college construction projects.

The Board also:

1). Approved employment of Rupert Harris as building inspector for the Engineering-Technology Building, construction on which will start this week on the Saratoga campus. He has served in a similar capacity for construction of the present relocatable buildings on the temporary Campbell campus.

2). Authorized Dr. Hall to call for bids for the furnishing, installing, and operating of food service facilities on the Campbell campus which are to be opened at 4 p.m. July 5. Profits derived from these concessions are turned over to the student body.

3). Authorized renewal of an agreement with the Bronco Bench Foundation for use of Buck Shaw Stadium.

WOUNDED IN ACTION--Word was received Sunday night by Mr. and Mrs. James Spelts that their son, PFC Richard L. Spelts, 19, had been wounded in action June 16 by a hostile booby trap, in Vietnam. The telegram stated that Richard was now in the 93rd Evacuation Hospital, APO S. F. 96491, where he is being treated for metal fragments in his left knee. Richard, who enlisted in October, 1966, was graduated from Campbell High in 1965.

Former residents hold reunion with star

Ebb and Helen Bohn, for many years residents of Campbell, now residing in Cupertino, have recently returned from a happy reunion visit with Roy Rogers and his wife, Dale Evans, in Apple Valley, Calif.

Back in the early thirties, Bohn was a young man with a family and no job. Being musically inclined, he organized a group of western singers and musicians and began booking them at theaters, market openings, rodeos, etc.

Bohn was approached by a personable young man with a guitar who asked for an audition. The youngster, then 19, proved to be an excellent singer and yodeler and could accompany himself on the guitar. This meeting was the beginning of a friendship for Ebb Bohn and Len Slye, now known to the entertainment world as Roy Rogers.

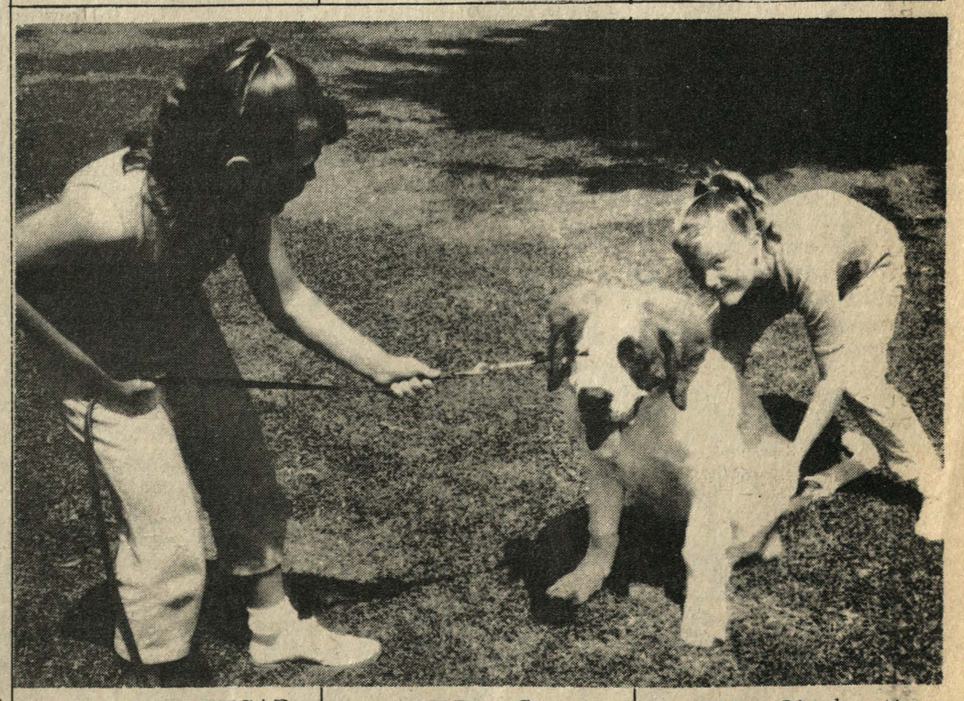
Rogers now lives in Apple Valley and has interest in the Roy Rogers Apple Valley Inn. He is also about to open a museum. Rogers conducted a tour of the museum for the Bohns. He plans to exhibit his famous horse, Trigger, now dead and mounted. There will be a special room for all the western actors, such as Tom Mix, Hoot Gibson, etc. and a special niche for the fabulous saddles used by Roy in his many appearances in the Rose Parade in Pasadena.

Visitors to the museum will see a picture of Bohn and Roy with a group called the Rocky Mountaineers. Part of this group later became the very famous "Sons of the Pioneers". This background of show business for Ebb was the reason that the San Jose Chamber of Commerce picked him to portray the role of the Cheery Farmer for the Santa Clara County Fair, a job he kept for many years, and became known as the "Goodwill Ambassador" for Santa Clara County.

Ebb is busy these days rounding up fans of Roy's who would like to join a bus trip to Apple Valley to attend the grand opening of the Museum. Since Ebb and Helen Bohn are engaged in Orchard City Grange Work in Campbell they will try to take a contingent from here to visit the Apple Valley Grange on this tour.

PENN'S BREWERY

William Penn built a brewery near his home, introducing brewing to Pennsylvania.



"COME ON SUGAR, HEEL!"--Debbie and Karen Viles, 910 Vicar Lane, wanted to bring their four months old St. Bernard over to show their grandmother, Mrs. V. Viles, 86 S. 2 St., but "Sugar" refused to budge. Too bad she is too young to go to "Dog Summer School," which is a special program just for kids and dogs. Sponsors are the Santa Clara Dog Training Club which will conduct five Tuesday evening sessions at the County Fairgrounds.

Youngsters from 9 to 15 make a 50¢ donation to the local Humane Society and receive training instructions from dog club members.

Dogs must be at least six months old. For information and registration, call 378-5166 or 251-7139.

Two members of Campbell High graduating class of 1962, Gerald R. Cunha and Donald D. Chamberlin, have been awarded graduate fellowships to the University of Chicago and Stanford University, respectively. Cunha was graduated last week from the University of Santa Clara and Chamberlin from Harvey Mudd College.

Campbell's City Council on Monday accepted the preliminary city budget of $1,891,634 from City Manager Bob Stephens and then scheduled a grueling series of budget sessions at which the bulky, three-phase document will be examined in detail.

Supervisor Ralph Mehrkens easily won re-election in the June 7 primary when he polled more votes than his two opponents combined.

5 YEARS AGO

Homer Hyde, a former member of the Planning Commission, has accepted the vacated post of Les Harmon who resigned because of health reasons.

Mrs. Lu Miles has resigned as office secretary to the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and will be replaced by Mrs. Opal Baughman. Mrs. Baughman has previously assisted Mrs. Dorothy Trevethan, city clerk, and relieved other office personnel during vacation periods.

Twenty-three youngsters, including boys from Santa Clara County, were honored June 10 in graduation exercises at Hanna Boys' Center, the western "boys' town" near Sonoma. Hanna Center, which cares for neglected boys of all races and creeds, operates its own trade school, grammar school and two-year high school program.

10 YEARS AGO

With the signing into law by Governor Goodwin Knight giving Santa Clara County three more Superior Judges, considerable hustle and bustle is anticipated among members of the bar of the county. The new law increased from seven to 10 the number of judges in the county and will be effective Sept. 11. The governor will make the original appointments.

Frederic A. Schraub, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lee Schraub, 86 Carlyn, Campbell, was presented with the Convair award during recent ceremonies at the annual Senior Review of Stanford University Air Force ROTC cadets. The award is made each year.

The largest class in the history of Campbell High School, 473 seniors, will be graduated at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon on the athletic field. It will also be the last of the big graduating classes. At the present all the senior students in the district attend Campbell High School. With the opening of Camden High School in the fall, there will be another class of seniors graduating in 1958.

15 YEARS AGO

South Willow Glen No. 10, approximately a 400-acre uninhabited tract near Cambrian Park, became a part of San Jose Monday night in spite of indignant protests from representative Cambrian Park residents, the City of Campbell, and interested school district spokesmen.

Homer Hyde, chairman of the police commission of the Chamber of Commerce, the governing body of the Campbell Merchant Patrol, will appear before the Campbell City Council Monday night concerning police protection being offered the city by the patrol.

Campbell Kiwanis members, at their last regular meeting, enjoyed a musical concert by the grammar school orchestra under the direction of Jack Barrett and presented a trophy to Dick Farruggia, Campbell High School baseball player, who was voted the most improved player of the season.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

The practice of buying eggs by the dozen may be on the way out if efforts to convert American weights and measures to the metric system are successful. Super markets would then sell them in units of th of ten with Saturday specials which advertised eggs as "cheaper by the hundred".

Ariticle I of the Constitution gives Congress the "Power...to...fix the Standard of Weights and Measures". In 1866 Congress legalized the metric system of measurement but it did not gain popular acceptance and we have continued to contend for the most part with awkward and unrelated measurements in the inches, pounds and gallons we inherited from the British.

Since France formally adopted the metric system in 1795, 90% of the world's nations have followed suit. In 1965 the United Kingdom decided to gradually convert to the metric system and left the U.S. as the only major non-metric power. Now, a bill reported by the House Science and Astronautics Committee authorizes a study of the feasibility of converting to the metric system.

There is a growing awareness that the U.S. stands to lose in the long run if it continues to measure things differently from the rest of the world. Savings, both tangible and intangible, would come from faster, simpler calculations and better communications between engineers and scientists. Our position in world trade would be greatly enhanced, since the 90% of the world's nations now on the metric system understandably prefer to deal with countries offering goods in metric measurements. Some estimates have the U.S. losing between $10 and $20 billion in foreign trade annually because we do not use the metric system.

Actually the metric system is in more common use in the U.S. than most of us realize. It is traditionally used in scientific measurement and is part of the language of international science. The U.S. Mint began using metric weights for coinage in 1876 and the Navy Medical Corps adopted the system in 1878. By 1900 the kilowatt was the unit used for measuring electrical energy. In 1913 the metric carat was adopted as the unit of weight for diamonds and other precious stones. The military calibrates and distance in metric units and packaged food often lists net weight in both ounces and grams. The Olympic games and international sports are governed by the metric system of measurement. In 1957 the U.S. drug industry converted to the metric system to cut costs and standardize operations for U.S. firms doing business overseas.

Educational experts have testified that since the metric system is far easier to teach and to learn, approximately two years (of 25%) of a student's time spent in studying arithmetic could be devoted to learning other things. Thus, our school systems are ready to assume the vital role they will play in our inevitable conversion to the metric system.

Our system of weights and measures cannot be defended in a comparison with the metric system--in fact, the only argument for retaining it is the expense of conversion. But that cost is inevitable and will continue to rise. So, as the Science and Astronautics Committee has suggested, we may as well start planning now.

Girl Scouts

GIRL SCOUT NEWS
NEIGHBORHOOD 15

Saturday, June 10, was a day of fun and excitement for two different Scout troops in Neighborhood 15.

Eleven Junior Scouts, all 6th graders of Troop 420, Capri School, spent a fabulous day in San Francisco. The girls had been looking forward to this event all year as it is a special "last fling" for the girls prior to their moving up to the Cadette level of Scouting.

They arrived in the city at 10:30 a.m. and immediately went to Fisherman's Wharf. There is nothing more fun than a shopping spree! The group then had lunch at Ott's where they toured the "fully mechanized" kitchen. Next on the agenda was a cable car ride to Chinatown. Not a stone was left unturned before they left a one block area! While there, they toured the Fortune Cookie Factory.

Still full of energy, they walked to Nob Hill where they visited the KSFO radio station in the Fairmont Hotel. To their surprise and excitement, they were interviewed "on the air" by Dan Sorkin. Kathy Cross was allowed to to do a commercial.

They toured part of the Fairmont before heading back to the Wharf.

After loading all their shopping mementos into the cars, the Troop started homeward. Ah--but this is by no means the end to their exciting day!

A pot luck supper supplied by the girls themselves and an overnight slumber (?) party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woods. On Sunday morning, the girls prepared and served a pancake breakfast to the adults. Mrs. Woods' kitchen may never be the same!

The courageous and stouthearted leaders of this troop are Mrs. David McCalment and Mrs. Keith Kaldembach.

The sixth graders participating in this fun packed event were: Rozanne Anderson, Lee Ann Woods, Tina McCalment, Norene Hannon, Barbara Gleim, Susan King, Kathy Cross, Debra Havens, Lisa Brewer, Kitty Cattan'eo and Anola Saycocie.

TROOP 824

Brownie Troop 824, Hazelwood School had a "camping day" at Vasona last Saturday. The day's events included setting up a base camp, hiking, laying trail signs, feeding ducks, knot tying, songs, games, sketching and a Father's Day craft project.

A kaper chart was employed to define noontime duties. Each girl "plucked" an apple from the tree on the chart, which told if she was a fire builder, table setter, cook, etc.

Each girl took part in making Brownie "Surprise Soup", roasting hot dogs and toasting cinnamon twists. Culmination of the days events was a treasure hunt, with a watermelon as the prize.

A tired, but happy group of girls returned to their homes at days end.

Drama, gymn groups start summer programs

By Sally Howe

Students in the Summer Humanities Program at Campbell High School will probably have to "hustle" a little harder this year, but they are still going to carry on their workshop and musical play production as planned.

Under the direction of John Hall, Campbell High School drama instructor and Larry McCommas, music instructor, the students plan to start a seven week workshop June 19. Their objective? A four night run of "The King and I", August 2, 3, 4 and 5 in the high school auditorium.

The program is free, and open to any student in the district, not enrolled in the summer school program. The catch is, a hoped-for grant to conduct the program didn't come through, in the amount originally planned on, so the students are going to try to make the program self-supporting. They will receive no classroom credit for their work, but will have an opportunity to gain experience in music, drama, design, painting, dance, and set work through production of the musical. They hope to sell enough advance tickets to make this possible.

Although tryouts and auditions have already been conducted, publicity director Toni Young announces that auditions will be held June 19 at 8:00 a.m.

Anyone interested in advance ticket sales may call the high school office.

GYMNASTICS PROGRAM

"What are some of the contributions which gymnastics makes to the development of the individual?

"Recent studies involving physical fitness indicate that gymnastics should be a vital activity in physical fitness training. The movements in this activity . . . will develop greatly the muscle groups in the arms, shoulders, chest, and abdomen."

Well, Pop, does that sound like just what the doctor ordered for you?

Forget it--t'isn't for you--it's for your offspring!

It is a Summer Gymnastics Program sponsored by the Campbell Union School District for young men and women presently enrolled in grades kindergarten through 12. And, with full enrollment, will be a self-supporting program, just as it was last summer.

There will be four sessions for students to attend: June 26-July-7; July 10-July 21; July 24-Aug. 4; and Aug. 7-Aug. 18.

The cost? For one child, $5; for two, $10; for three, $14; and for four, $18. The time schedule: Monday through Friday, 9:00 - 10:30; 10:30 - noon; 12:30 - 2:00 and 2:00 - 3:30, with each class divided into four groups according to age and ability.

What will they learn? Tumbling, Trampoline, floor exercise, side horse vaulting, balance beam and horizontal bar.

Who will teach them? Don Peckham will act as director, with assistance from Ron Spangler, Bob Persky, Thursa Greer, (all currently teaching at Rolling Hills School) and Jean Gould from Wilcox High, Santa Clara.

Last year 385 young people participated in the program, learning headsprings and handsprings and backsprings.

This year's program will be held at Monroe School, 1055 S. Monroe Ave., San Jose. Registrations will be taken at the school from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., June 12-15 and on Saturday June 17, 10:00 - 1:00.

Director Peckham feels the program aids the students in developing an appreciation for gymnastics as well as making definite physical and mental contributions. The program encourages self-confidence, and self-discipline. And fun, too.

Registrations will also be accepted at the school beginning June 26.

Jaycees hear Campbell mayor

Campbell Jaycees heard Mayor Edward S. Rogers speak on his recent trip to Latin America, at their recent dinner meeting.

Dr. Rogers pointed out in his talk that the people of Latin America are living in a land that is a frontier and that the 21st Century will probably be for them what the 20th Century has been for the United States. He also commented that the work being done by the young people serving in the Peace Corps is very much appreciated by the people of Latin America.

At the Jaycee meeting on July 11, the speaker will be a representative from N.A.S.A.'s Research Center who will show films and discuss the Mariner flight to the moon.

Any young men between the ages of 21 and 35 are cordially invited by the local club to be the guest of the Campbell Jaycees at their dinner meetings at Andy's Restaurant on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month.

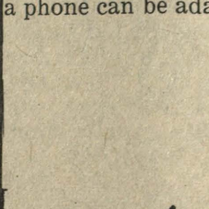
WHAT'S DOING?

Some important words on a serious subject

Your telephone, like many other things, is subject to misuse. And one of the most flagrant violations of the rights of others is malicious calling. I hope you never receive one of these calls, but if you do, here are some things you can do to discourage the caller:



Hang Up—if the caller doesn't answer when you say "Hello."

Hang Up—at the first obscene word or improper personal question.

Hang Up—if the caller doesn't identify himself to your satisfaction.

And remember, never give your telephone number to an unknown caller.

If the annoying calls persist, call our Campbell Business Office 288-9000. We have employees who are specially trained to assist and advise you and who can frequently help in identifying the origin of unwelcome and troublesome calls. In the meantime, we're working closely with law enforcement agencies to do all we can to protect your right to privacy.

The telephone rang in a real estate office and a soft female voice asked, "Do you sell maternity clothes?" Without a pause the salesman replied, "No, madam, but could we interest you in a larger house?"

Did you know that a number of special telephones have been developed for use by the physically handicapped? Today, speakerphones and headsets can be easily used by persons who are disabled and can't hold a receiver. For people who can't talk above a whisper, a special phone amplifies their voices.

If you know someone whose physical handicap keeps him from using his phone in the usual way, maybe we can help. Just call our Business Office and we'll see if a phone can be adapted to his special needs.
